The potential for Chat to increase online sales and reduce abandonment is proven and too compelling to ignore.

There is also a fast growing population of Internet users who are accustomed to interacting in this way via chat rooms, Instant Messaging and Skype, and who don't want to pick up the phone or wait for an answer to an email.

Chat is no longer considered to be a costly customer service channel: on the contrary, most agents can comfortably handle several conversations simultaneously in the time it can take to handle a single phone call.

Use Chat to engage your customers and keep them on your website rather than lose them to another.

Guide customers through tasks such as form filling and technical support. Minimise abandoned shopping carts by helping customers who are struggling to complete their shopping transaction.

Assist customers who are making repeated searches but appear unable to find the answer they want from your Web self-service system.

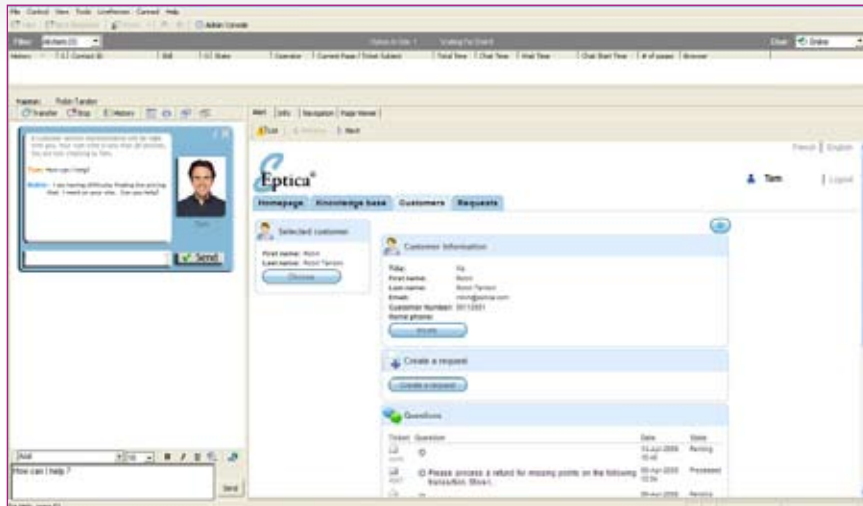

Be ready to help customers at known abandonment points – it often takes only a few seconds to re-orientate a customer who is having difficulty finding what they want on your website.

Increase online sales and improve customer service for your website visitors.

Benefits

- Increase sales by giving live support at the point of sale
- Immediately answer questions and cross-sell products
- Reduce abandonment of quotation and application forms
- Impress customers by stepping in to help them when they need it
- Stop customers leaving your site without finding what they came for
- Improve first contact resolution – agents handling online enquiries by chat, rather than phone, have the advantage of knowing what the customer has been doing on your site
- Reduce chat handling times by drawing on pre-scripted answers
- Gain deep insight about customer behaviour
- Identify usability issues with your web site.

The potential to increase sales through proactive chat is proven and too compelling to ignore.

The Agent Console provides agents with everything they need to optimise the effectiveness of their interaction: Agents handling an incoming chat session are automatically provided with the customers contact details and customer interaction history. They can chat, co-browse, set up new accounts, access the centralised knowledge base, and document library and more.

Other services:

Eptica SelfService™

Automatically answers the majority of your customers' questions on your website.

Eptica Email Management™

Improves the quality of email replies. Typically cuts email handling time by 50% and repeat emails by 25%.

Eptica Network Agent™

Enables email enquiries best handled by staff outside your contact centre to be determined automatically and routed accordingly. Email response is handled via a light interface to Eptica Email Management.

Eptica Contact Assistant™
